MATH 102 – Mathematics in Non-mathematicalideas developed by non-Europe to, those of Africans, Asian and native North, Centraland and specific examples from the following areas of mathematics in Non-mathematicalideas developed by non-Europe to, those of Africans, Asian and native North, Centraland and specific examples from the following areas of mathematicalideas developed by non-Europe to, those of Africans, Asian and native North, Centraland and specific examples from the following areas of mathematicalideas developed by non-Europe to, those of Africans, Asian and native North, Centraland and specific examples from the following areas of mathematicalideas developed by non-Europe to, those of Africans, Asian and native North, Centraland and specific examples from the following areas of mathematicalideas developed by non-Europe to, those of Africans, Asian and native North, Centraland and specific examples from the following areas of mathematicalideas developed by non-Europe to, those of Africans, Asian and Specific examples from the following areas of mathematicalideas developed by non-Europe to, those of Africans and Specific examples from the following areas of mathematicalideas developed by non-Europe to, those of the following areas of mathematicalideas developed by non-Europe to, those of the following areas of the following ar

Thiscoursemaybe taken for generaleducationcredit (Dinon-sciencemajors). Nomore than one of MATH100,10 generaleducationcredit.

Prerequisites

Course Objectives

- •
- •
- •
- •
- •

Assessment

Use of Technology

•

•

•

•

•

•

•